

ABSTRACT

Q¹ A blood sample and method of its use involves a cryopreserved unit of whole blood, in the form of a standardized blood unit dose, selected from among identical cryopreserved units derived from one lot of whole blood.